New Heat: Orangatang 77A Blue Caguama and Kegel Wheels

by Daniel Fedkenheuer

Fresh off the release of the Caguamas earlier this year, the fine folks over at Orangatang Wheels aren't slowing with in dropping new heat in the thane department. Instead, they took the thickest wheel they've ever poured and rolled out a brand new 77A durometer for both the Caguama and the Kegel in a blissful blue colorway.

As you probably already know, the 85mm Caguama features virtually the same core as the beloved 80mm Kegels but packs in a unique, turtle shell-like pattern to the profile and a stone ground lip to match. With the new 77A duro, these classics have been reimagined to be more smooth, grippy and thane-leaving than any wheel in their lineup.
